A UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY TO MEET ANGOLAN SUPPLIERS

It may be some time since you last attended WTM London, but this year there's a unique opportunity that makes attending worthwhile, all by itself.

This year, Visit Angola will make its debut at the event, bringing with it a host of leading DMCs as well as some key property names too.

Stand number S6-535

There is growing interest in Angola as one of Africa's emerging tourism destinations, and WTM provides an opportunity to meet the suppliers developing and delivering the country's tourism offering.

From 3-5 November 2026, a host of Angolan tourism businesses will be exhibiting at WTM London.

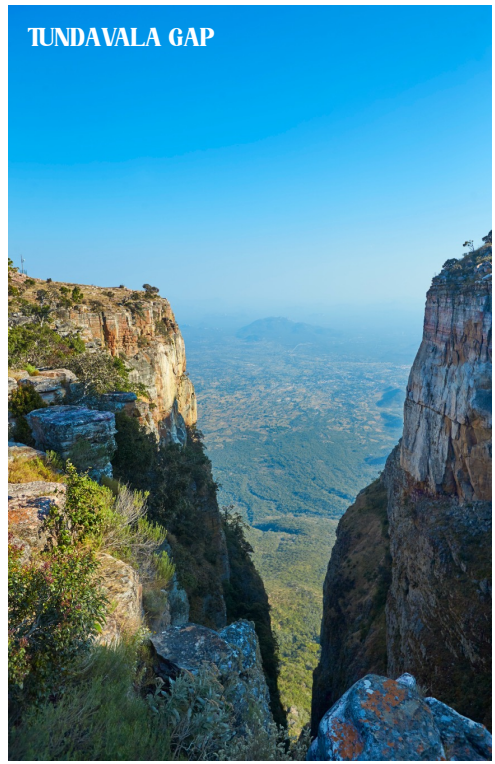

Please reach out to these companies to take the unique opportunity to meet them face-to-face in the UK.

IONA NP / AFRICAN PARKS

Angola's oldest national park, Iona protects 15,150 km^2 between the Atlantic Ocean and the Cunene River. Oryx, springbok and Hartmann's mountain zebra range acrossits plains, alongside elusive cheetah and brown hyena. Over 200 bird species and at least 70 reptile species have been recorded. Angolan giraffe returned in July 2023, after decades of local extinction.

Visitors explore Iona by 4x4, across dune fields and dry riverbeds, past stands of Welwitschia mirabilis — a plant that lives on coastal fog for more than a thousand years — and along 160 km of shoreline, where the lagoons at Tigres Island shelter migratory seabirds. The Ovahimba and other Herero-family communities who share this landscape give every journey a living cultural dimension.

LUIANA PLAINS SAFARIS

Luiana Plains Safaris is a pioneering eco-tourism operator and the first major private project dedicated to the Angolan section of the Kavango-Zambezi Transfrontier Conservation Area (KAZA).

Based in the vast and largely untouched Luengue-Luiana National Park, the company offers high-end, sustainable safaris that combine conservation with community empowerment. Away from the heavily frequented safari destinations of Southern Africa, Luiana Plains Safaris provides exclusive wilderness experiences in one of the continent's largest protected areas, opening up a previously untouched safari paradise for discerning nature and wildlife enthusiasts.

Founded by experienced experts, the company brings decades of expertise in high-end hospitality and remote logistics projects to establish a world-class, sustainable safari destination in Angola that respectfully integrates both nature and local communities.
